1 OVERVIEW OF THE FUND

1.1 Distribution Policy

(a) Fund Distribution Policy

While the Responsible Entity has full discretion with regard to the distribution policy of the Fund, its intention is to pay 100% of its income less fees and costs in regular monthly distributions to Unitholders. Distribution payments are generally made within 20 Business Days after the end of the distribution period.

A distribution reinvestment feature is not available for the Fund at the time of this PDS. The Responsible Entity may determine to offer a distribution reinvestment feature in its discretion and will communicate such to Investors by way of updated on the Fund's website.

Where distribution reinvestment is offered by the Responsible Entity, distributions will not be automatically reinvested unless you instruct us otherwise in the Application Form. If you do not nominate a bank account for payment of distributions, we will treat this as a request to reinvest your distributions. You may change your distribution option by notifying us in writing at least 30 Business Days prior to the end of the relevant distribution period. Distributions will be reinvested using the applicable unit price of the Fund for the last Business Day of the relevant distribution period, adjusted to exclude the income to be distributed for the distribution period.

1.2 Portfolio construction

As the Fund is newly established, it does not have an existing Portfolio. Initially and as disclosed from time to time, the Fund will acquire all or a portion of existing loans from either the parent of the Manager or other funds managed by the Manager, to enable the Fund to have diversification. In these cases, the loans will be acquired at face value. As new loans are originated, the Fund will invest or co-invest with other funds managed by the Manager. Loans are originated directly by the investment team, via brokers and via third party managers.

1.3 Asset valuation

The NAV of the Fund is expected to be calculated monthly by the Manager and made available on the Fund's website. The NAV of the Fund will be calculated by deducting from the total value of the assets of the Fund all liabilities, which includes declared but unpaid distributions, calculated in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards (AAS).

The Trustee must calculate the Fund NAV by deducting the value of the Fund Liabilities from the value of the Property (determined on the basis of the most recent valuation of each item), each as at the Valuation Time. The calculation of the Fund NAV and the Fund NAV will be reviewed annually by the Auditor.

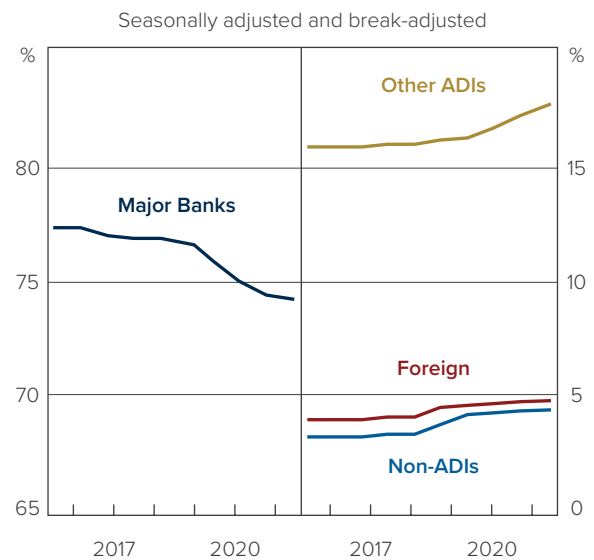

2 MARKET OPPORTUNITY

The strategy seeks to take advantage of the growing pool of borrowers seeking loans outside of traditional bank channels. The Australian mortgage market is estimated to be worth $2.1 trillion¹, dominated by authorised deposit-taking institutions (ADI) and regulated by the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA). Over recent years, changes to regulatory and prudential regimes has seen major ADIs tighten lending requirements resulting in banks withdrawing or seeking more onerous, terms and conditions from certain market segments, leading to a reduction in, or less certainty of credit supply¹.

Since November 2017, the non-bank lending sector has been growing at a faster pace than the traditional banking sector, helping to fill the void created through more lending constraints imposed upon them by APRA¹. Moreover, in 2020 the non-ADI financiers increased their market share in the outstanding housing credit market to 4%², while the major ADI financiers experienced an ~6%² decrease respectively (Figure 1). The opportunity of increased competition in the sector has now lead the non-ADI market in Australia to become considerably similar to comparable major economies, as it peaked at ~10%³ of the housing credit market before the global financial crisis.

As a consequence of this trend, the Manager has witnessed an increasing pool of borrowers seeking funding outside the traditional banking sources (Figure 1); these include loans to operating businesses (with or without real estate collateral), foreign real estate purchasers and real estate developers. This presents a greater pool of potential loans from which the Manager may select.

3 REAL ESTATE MARKET

Investments made by the Manager will be secured against real estate across residential and commercial property throughout Australia.

Residential markets

The residential markets have been resilient during the Covid pandemic with declines significantly less than early predictions from industry commentators and the major lending institutions; with most markets having fully recovered from early declines.

As of January 2021, national median house values have now surpassed pre-Covid levels by 1%, with the Home Value Index increasing 0.7% more than the respective October 2017 peak¹. On a national outlook, the residential markets have been sharply impacted by the level of buyer/seller activity. The combination of tight inventory levels, lower advertised supply and, rising buyer activity has greatly increased median values since January 2021¹. Prior to this, the decline of median values since 2017 had been more severe than previous peak to trough declines in those markets, as reflected in Figure 2, and, is indicative of the resilience of the sector and the significant equity buffers retained at conservative LVRs of 65% or less.

The residential markets in NSW and Victoria are still seeing the strongest shifts as a result of the pandemic (Figure 3), with a trend towards the regional residential markets. In total, the combined regionals index increased by 4.7% in the past quarter (Figure 3) and, quarterly home values for each state's regional area sat higher compared to each state's capital city by 3.1% (NSW) and 2.7% (Victoria) respectively (2021)⁴, since delivering a clearer divergence between metro and regional housing demand.

Commercial property

As seen in Figure 4, values within the office and industrial sectors have been quite strong as yields compressed in response to lower yields in bonds, cash and alternative investment classes and, with strong embedded rental increases in leasing profiles (2020). In particular, the industrial sector saw the largest growth due to the e-commerce boom as a result of the pandemic⁵, with most major markets having a rise in occupier activity and a near record supply delivery, reinforcing more than AUD 5.3 billion sales recorded over the year (2020)⁶.

Additionally, in response to concerns over the increase in on-line retailing, values of large retail centres have come under pressure however smaller neighbourhood centres and strip shops have remained buoyant⁷. Furthermore, conveying that there is the opportunity for non-traditional retail uses to transform the current retail centres and strips into mixed use precincts⁸.

Product review

Investment strategy

The investment strategy is to target short duration loans (average duration of 12 months and a maximum of 24 months), secured by first mortgages in Australian real estate assets, which are typically being used by the borrower as a form of bridging or construction finance. In the majority of cases, the Borrowers do not have existing relationships with the Australian banks or are considered to be no longer conforming to banks' current loan or borrower criteria.

The Manager expects to maintain a small allocation to cash, which will be held for liquidity and portfolio risk management purposes and to take advantage of investment opportunities as and when they arise.

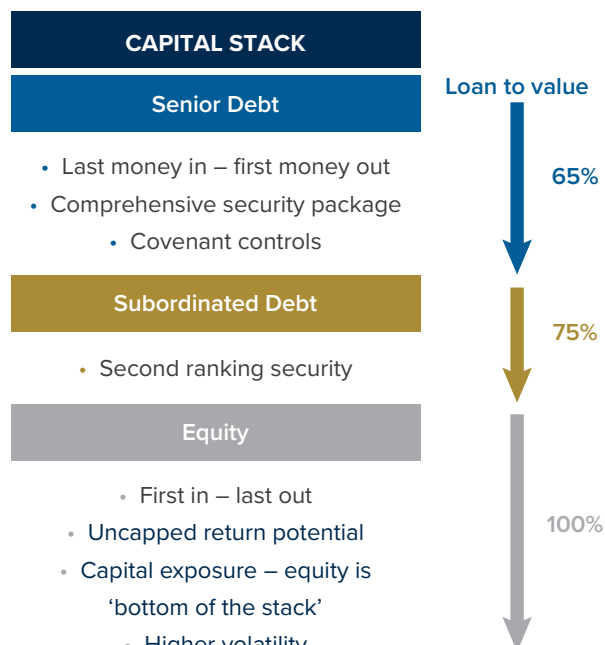

Registered First Mortgage Real Estate Security (Senior Debt)

A registered first mortgage security is the most senior position of the real estate equity capital stack. "Registered" refers to the recording on legal title of the lender's interest in the real estate asset. "First Mortgage" reflects the priority ranking of that security ahead of any other party's interest in that same security. This means that the first mortgage Lender has first right to any consideration received on the sale of the property. Furthermore, in the situation whereby a Borrower defaults on its obligations on a loan, the legal agreements and priority interests will entitle the lender to assume control over the asset either as Mortgagee In Possession or the appointment of a Receiver; or to enter into alternative arrangements with the Borrower.

First mortgage real estate loans to commercial borrowers typically account for up to 65-75% of the value of the real estate asset. This percentage is referred to as the Loan to Value Ratio (LVR). Therefore, the lender's position can withstand a 25% fall in the value of the Security (before allowances for selling and recovery expenses) prior to its principal being at risk.

The maximum LVR of any one loan in the Fund is 65%.

Portfolio construction

As the Fund is newly established, it does not have an existing Portfolio. Initially the Fund may acquire all or a portion of existing loans at face value from either the parent of the Manager or other funds managed by the Manager, to enable the Fund to have diversification. As new loans are originated, the Fund will invest or co-invest with other funds managed by the Manager. Loans are originated directly by the investment team, via brokers and via third party managers, approved by the Manager (including investing directly or indirectly via third party originated special purpose trusts).

4 TAXATION

4.1 Introduction

WARNING: Investing in a registered managed investment scheme is likely to have tax consequences and you are strongly advised to seek professional tax advice.

The comments in this section are based on the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999 and the relevant Australian stamp duties legislation as at the date of the PDS.

The following information summarises some of the Australian taxation issues you may wish to consider before making an investment in the Fund and assumes that you hold your Units on capital account and are not considered to be carrying on a business of investing, trading in investments, or investing for the purpose of profit making by sale. This information is based on our current interpretation of the relevant taxation laws and does not consider any potential Unitholder's specific circumstances. As such, potential or current Unitholders should not place reliance on this as a basis for making their decision as to whether to acquire, retain or dispose of Units. The information should be used as a guide only and does not constitute professional tax advice as individual circumstances may differ. It is recommended that you seek your own advice before investing in the Fund.

4.2 Income tax status of the Fund

It is expected that the number of Unitholders in the Fund will enable it to qualify as "widely held" under the definition of a 'Managed Investment Trust' (MIT). It is also expected that the Fund will qualify as an Attribution Managed Investment Trust (AMIT). The Responsible Entity will make a determination prior to making its first distribution whether it will elect into the AMIT regime or not. This election is irrevocable.

The Fund intends to act as a flow through vehicle by ensuring that Unitholders are presently entitled or attributed its taxable income so that the Fund itself will not be liable for Australian income tax.

4.3 Taxation of distribution to Australian tax resident Unitholders

Australian resident Unitholders are generally subject to tax on the taxable income from the Fund in the year they become presently entitled to the income of the Fund (where MIT rules apply) or are 'attributed' the income (where AMIT rules apply). Any attribution must be worked out by the Responsible Entity on a fair and reasonable basis in accordance with the Constitution of the Fund.

If the cash distribution to a Unitholder exceeds a Unitholder's allocation of the Fund's net (taxable) income, the excess (known as a 'tax deferred' distribution) will generally not be assessable to the Unitholder. Similarly, a return of capital by the Fund will not be assessable to the Unitholders.

Distributions of tax deferred or capital will generally reduce the Unitholder's CGT cost base of their Units in the Fund. Once the cost base of a Unitholder's Units has been reduced to nil any additional tax deferred or capital distributions will be assessable to a Unitholder as an E4 capital gain (or E10 in the case of an AMIT).

Conversely, under the AMIT regime, if the cash distributed to a Unitholder is less than the Unitholder's allocation of the Fund's net (taxable) income, the Unitholder will be entitled to a cost base increase on their Units in the Fund.

These cost base adjustments will impact upon the capital gains tax position upon the eventual disposal of the Unitholder's Units in the Fund.

Unitholders should wait until receipt of an annual tax distribution statement before completing an income tax return. The distribution statement will set out details of any taxable income components, non assessable components and capital gains paid by way of distribution in the financial year.

4.4 Taxation of distributions to Foreign tax resident Unitholders

At this stage, the Fund is only expected to earn and distribute interest income. The distribution of interest income by the Fund will be subject to 10% interest withholding tax when paid to a Non-resident Unitholder.

In the event that the Fund distributes income that is not in the nature of interest, such income will either be:

- a) a fund payment subject to a final withholding tax under the MIT regime (where the Fund so qualifies); or
- b) a distribution that retains its character (e.g. other Australian sourced income or capital gains) that is subject to a non-final withholding tax under the ordinary Trust tax rules.

Non resident Unitholders may also be subject to tax in the country they reside in and may be entitled to a credit for some or all of the tax paid in Australia.

4.5 Disposal of units – Foreign tax resident Unitholders

If a foreign resident Unitholder disposes of their investment in the Fund, the disposal would generally be a CGT event. However, the capital gain or loss that arises in relation to the CGT event can be disregarded if the Units do not meet the definition of taxable Australian property (TAP).

In the case of the Fund, the Units are not expected to meet the definition of TAP. Consequently, any capital gain/ loss arising on a disposal by a foreign resident Unitholder should be disregarded.

Goods and Services Tax (GST)

The Fund is registered for GST. The acquisition and disposal of Units should not be subject to GST. The distributions paid by the Fund should not be subject to GST. GST is payable on certain ongoing expenses, but the Fund may be able to claim a reduced input tax credit (RITC), depending on the precise nature of the expenses incurred. All fees and expenses are quoted inclusive of GST net of RITCs.

Duty

No duty should arise on the issue or redemption of Units although duty may be payable on the transfer of Units. Unitholders should seek professional taxation advice regarding any potential duty in connection with any transfer of Units.

Tax File Number (TFN) and Australian Business Number (ABN)

The Fund is an investment body for income tax purposes and accordingly, in certain cases the Responsible Entity will be required to obtain a TFN or ABN from Investors.

It is not compulsory for a Unitholder to quote their TFN or ABN. If a Unitholder is making this investment in the course of a business or enterprise, the Unitholder may quote an ABN instead of a TFN. Failure by an Investor to quote an ABN or TFN or claim an exemption may cause the Responsible Entity to withhold tax at the top marginal rate, plus levies, on gross payments including distributions of income to the Investor. The Investor may be able to claim a credit in their tax return for any TFN or ABN tax withheld. Collection of TFNs is permitted under taxation and privacy legislation.

Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) and Common Reporting Standard (CRS)

In compliance with the US income tax laws commonly referred to as FATCA and the Intergovernmental Agreement signed with the Australian Government in relation to FATCA, the Responsible Entity will be required to provide information to the ATO in relation to:

- (a) Unitholder that are US citizens or residents;
- (b) entities controlled by US persons; and
- (c) financial institutions that do not comply with FATCA.

The Responsible Entity intends to conduct all appropriate FATCA related due diligence. Where Unitholders do not provide appropriate information the Responsible Entity will also be required to report those accounts to the ATO.

The CRS is the single global standard for the collection, reporting and exchange of financial account information of non-residents, which applies to calendar years ending after 1 July 2017. The CRS is similar to FATCA and accordingly the Responsible Entity will need to collect and report similar financial account information of all non-residents to the ATO. The ATO may exchange this information with the participating foreign tax authorities of those non-residents.

If requested by the Responsible Entity, the Investor agrees, and it is a condition of the issue of the Units to provide certain information required by it or the Responsible Entity/Custodian in order to comply with any applicable law, including the United States Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) and the Common Reporting Standards under the CRS Laws.

Annual Investment Income Report (AIIR)

The Responsible Entity is required to lodge annually an AIIR to the ATO containing Unitholder identity details and details of unit disposals and investment income paid or attributed to Unitholders for the relevant income year.

General

Except as otherwise disclosed in this PDS, there are no existing agreements or arrangements and there are no currently proposed transactions in which the Responsible Entity was, or is to be, a participant, and in which any related party of the Responsible Entity had or will have a direct or indirect material interest.

Related party transactions in portfolio construction

As detailed in Section 7.4 of the PDS, when constructing the Portfolio of the Fund, in addition to sourcing investments directly from third parties, the Manager will make use of the resources and lending infrastructure of the Moelis Australia group by investment in or acquiring assets originated by, or warehoused by, other Moelis group entities. These arrangements comprise investing in or acquiring loans from Moelis Australia or other funds managed by Moelis.

Conflicts of interest and approval of related party transactions

The Responsible Entity considers that all related party arrangements are arrangements that have been entered into on an arm's length basis and for reasonable remuneration. The Manager, the Responsible Entity and Moelis Australia offer a variety of products and services to their clients and may find themselves in a position where the interests of one part of the business could be or is in conflict with the interests of another part of the business (including for example, where the Fund is lending to a borrower where Moelis Australia is providing financial advisory services to that borrower).

As detailed in Section 5.4 of the PDS, the investment committee has been established to assist with governance and decision making of the Fund in relation to transactions that do not involve a related party of the Responsible Entity or the Manager.

As a matter of policy, all related party transactions (which will include all of the arrangements described in 'Related party transactions in portfolio construction' above) will require approval of both the Fund's investment committee and the Group Investment Committee. The Fund's investment committee and the Group Investment Committee periodically monitor compliance with this policy. Investor approval is not sought in relation to such transactions.
